Home is Where the Music is: A Conversation on Borders, Forced Migration and the Cultures of Germany

Josh Kun, Bosch Fellow in Public Policy, American Academy in Berlin; Professor of Communication, American Studies and Ethnicity, University of Southern California, in conversation with Syrian musician, educator, and poet Bashir Alshihabi. In their conversation, musician, educator and poet Bashir Alshihabi and scholar and curator Josh Kun bring together Damascus and Los Angeles, and Stuttgart and Berlin to examine music's role in understanding contemporary migration, displacement, and belonging. Does music determine where home is? What role has music played in cultural change in Germany in the 21 century? How does immigration change a city's soundscape? – In cooperation with the American Academy in Berlin and Evangelisches Bildungszentrum Hospitalhof Stuttgart. – Generously supported by Dr. Dirk Ippen, Robert Bosch Stiftung GmbH, Holtzbrinck Publishing Group, and Berthold Leibinger Stiftung GmbH.

MARS ... THE FINAL FRONTIER?Explore the Mock Mars Mission on Hawai'i

Lecture by and talk with Dr. Tristan Bassingthwaighe, architectural designer and space researcher, Deep Space Ecology LLC
Dr. Tristan Bassingthwaighe will share his experiences of a year in complete isolation within the Hawaii Space Exploration Analog and Simulation IV (HI-SEAS) in a multimedia talk. As crew architect of the 366-day long mission IV, the longest NASA-funded space simulation in history, he and his five fellow “Marstronauts” inhabited a 110 square-meter dome-shaped habitat on a red-brown lava plain of 8,200 feet on Hawai'i. There, the scientists investigated the stressors associated with isolated, confined and extreme environments. – In cooperation with the Planetarium Stuttgart and Linden-Museum Stuttgart. – Admission 5 euros,
